Mountain Men roamed throughout the American west from about 1810 through the 1880s, trapping for fur, hunting, exploring new trails to the west, and meeting each summer in a rendezvous to trade furs for goods and to compete in contests related to their lifestyle.

At International Rendezvous 2020, we are re-creating the spirit of these original rendezvous, bringing together 150 International Scouts from all over the world to spend a week at camp with a like number of U.S. Scouts, experiencing some of the Mountain Man's and Native American's world firsthand, while living with and getting to know Scouts from all around the world.

Activities include archery, arrow making, basket making, blacksmithing, canoeing, Dutch oven cooking, fire making with flint & steel, flintlock rifle shooting, gold panning, horseshoes, leather craft, tomahawk throwing, pioneer lashings, Native American village, Mountain Man village, and so on, in addition to more traditional Scout activities, like mountain biking, backpacking, nature study, rock climbing, swimming, and so on.

This is an event you won't want to miss!

More details and applications are available on-line, at <http://www.ir2020.info/>

Hope to see you there!
